

CLEAN X-TREME

The Biohazard Control and Clean-up Company

Electrostatic Spraying Best Disinfectant Coverage on the Market Today

Clean X-treme performs thorough indoor surface disinfection using the most advanced technology and methods. Treating every hard-to-reach area is critical to maximizing effectiveness and the electrostatic application is proven to be the best process on the market today.

Our technicians use a unique sprayer featuring a technology that introduces an electrostatic charge to the disinfectant solution. Doing so greatly maximizes the effectiveness of the treatment to all angles of the surface ensuring maximum coverage. When used, spray droplets are pumped through an electrostatic charging ring and then exits through the nozzle. By positively charging, this enables our disinfectant to uniformly cover surfaces, killing infectious diseases.

We have the knowledge, certifications and equipment for the application of special disinfectants to get your business ready to re-open or stay open. Our infectious disease control disinfectants meet EPA/CDC guidelines. By fogging or electrostatically spraying this chemical, we are able to obtain great coverage area to disinfect both large and small buildings to help stop the spread of Covid-19.
